

You are warmly invited to an open exhibition of research findings entitled:

[drawing out local perspectives]

a view of natural resource value and management

by anna goldman & daniel petrie

The exhibition includes a community-drawn map and 13 photographic panels which illustrate valuable natural resources as perceived by the community as well as the institutions that are engaged to manage them. The research was completed over five months while the authors were living in the study area (the coastal belt between the Mncwasa and Lubanzi rivers).
